AMERICAN GROWN,

Aerolite

From these fields in Oregon, featured several times, both in the Saturday Evening Post and in Life magazine, come the finest, healthiest, strong-growing, acclimated daffodils. Their sensationally large flowers, vigor and substance will astonish and delight you. No better quality can be produced, no finer bulbs are available. Specially selected for you by our world-famous grower in Oregon, only the finest grade is used to fill your order. All varieties are chosen for their beauty, hardiness and ability to grow on for many years, if left undisturbed. Treat yourself and your garden to the best that is available and make a generous planting of these bulbs of unsurpassed quality. All prices are postpaid for largest size doublenosed bulbs, producing at least two exhibition quality flowers. They will be shipped by prepaid parcel post or express, whichever we deem most expedient.

Rising above Jan de Graaff's hundreds of acres of new hybrid flower bulbs, Oregon's Mount Hood makes an unforgettable picture. On these farms, under Mr. de Graaff's personal supervision, the finest new daffodils, lilies and iris are produced—all strong-growing, healthy and extremely hardy bulbs that surpass any foreign stocks in performance and permanence.

POETAZ DAFFODILS

OUTDOOR CULTURE

Daffodils thrive in any good garden soil, preferably deep well-drained loam. Deep preparation of the soil is necessary, and old rotted manure or compost may be worked in 16 or 18 inches below the surface, so as not to come in direct contact with the bulbs. Fresh manure should never be used. Plant in the early fall. The more vigorous, larger varieties may be planted as late as December, but early planting is best. In medium soils, cover the bulbs about twice their depth, and a little deeper in the lighter soils. The average for most sorts is three to four inches from the top of the bulb, set the bulbs at a uniform depth, otherwise they may flower irregularly.

NATURALIZING DAFFODILS

Daffodils planted in clusters in the foreground of shrubbery, or sown broadcast through woodlands, along roadsides, in meadows or lawns, and planted about the edges of flower beds, produce a most pleasing natural effect. They will increase in beauty and number without special care and become permanently established. For best results use our Superb Flower Border Mixture described below.

SUPERB FLOWER BORDER MIXTURE
